OFF FOR THE SUNNY SOUTH

THE PRESIDENT AND PARTY DEPART FOR FLORIDA.

Many Friends Accompany Them to the Station and Wish Them a Pleasant Journey—No Reporters on the Train—New Liberian Minister—Mr. Corcoran Worse.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—The presidential special for Florida drew out of the Baltimore & Potowmack station at ten minutes to 12 o'clock. It consisted of two cars, the Newport and a Pullman sleeper and dining car combined and a combination Pullman smoking and baggage car.

The party consists of the president, Mrs. Cleveland, Secretary and Mrs. Whitney, and the president's private secretary and Mrs. Lamont. Two maids accompany Mrs. Cleveland.

A distinguished party came to the train to bid farewell to the travelers. First to arrive was the secretary of war and Mrs. Endicott, then came Mrs. Fairchild, followed by Secretary Vilas and Postmaster General Dickinson.

Secretary and Mrs. Whitney were the first of those who were to accompany the president on his first visit to Florida, to reach the Newport, and at 11:45 the iron gates of the station platform were thrown back to admit the president and Mrs. Lamont and Col. Lamont and Mrs. Cleveland. They had entered the depot by the B street entrance of tragic memory.

The president was looking remarkably well and smilingly shook hands with a half dozen friends, who stood between the station gates and the car platform.

"What are we going to do without you, gentlemen," said the president, who was carrying a red silk wrap of Mrs. Cleveland over his arm as he shook hands with the representatives of the United Press. "I suppose we'll see you every few hours, won't we? Good-bye," he concluded, as Col. Lamont touched him on the arm as a hint to board the car.

"Lamont is taking nothing on trust about Florida weather," said Secretary Whitney pointing at the colonel, who carried a heavy ulster over his arm in addition to the overcoat he wore, "I believe the colonel is becoming a dude."

A moment more and those who had come to bid the party farewell, were warned to leave the Newport. Everybody shook hands, god-speeds were uttered, the wheels of the special slowly began to turn, and in a moment the train disappeared with a whisk around the first curve.

Mrs. Cleveland was dressed in a close fitting traveling dress of dark green trimmed with white fur, and a fawn colored tailor made jacket. She looked somewhat pale as she reached the depot but a faint flush of color came back under the excitement of leave-taking.

Frisco Claims Everything.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—The contest over the selection of a place for holding the Democratic National convention goes merrily on. The Cincinnati contingent can not count on more than six or eight votes, but expects to gain on every ballot. Capt. Holloway expressed the truth of the situation this afternoon when he said Cincinnati has a fighting chance. The San Francisco people claim everything.

New Minister to Liberia.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—The Rev. J. C. Price, colored, president of Livingston college, at Salisbury, has received a letter from Secretary Bayard informing him that the president has appointed him minister resident and consul general of the United States at Liberia. Mr. Price has not yet decided whether he will accept the office or not.

Mr. Corcoran Grows Weaker.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—Mr. Corcoran continues weaker and weaker. Death may occur at any moment.

Lawyer Suicides at Indianapolis.
INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 22.—W. C. Bernhardt, aged thirty, a well known attorney of Richmond, Ind., and son-in-law of Hon. Lewis D. Stulb, of the Republican state central committee, was found dead to-day in a room at the Dennison hotel. On the table was a note, saying: "This man is just smart enough to be a fool." This is supposed to have been written by Bernhardt. He came to this city on Saturday and yesterday afternoon was missed by Col. Bridgeland and other associates. Death resulted from a bullet in the heart, fired doubtless by himself. Whisky drinking led to trouble with his wife, who returned to her father's house last week.

Backbone Railroad Case Decided.
SHREVEPORT, La., Feb. 22.—In the United States court yesterday in the case of John D. Parker vs. the New Orleans Backbone Railroad and the Vicksburg, Shreveport & Pacific Railway companies, Judge Boardman signed a decree recognizing the mortgage executed by the Backbone Railroad company to secure the payment of its first mortgage bonds on the lands granted by congress to aid the company. These lands were assigned to and are now held by the New Orleans & Pacific, and amount to 1,000,000 acres. It is understood that the bonds aggregate $500,000.

Mormonism at Findlay.
FINDLAY, O., Feb. 22.—Two Mormon elders were in this city Monday trying to secure a hall in which they could preach the gospel of the Latter-Day Saints, but finding, instead of a warm reception, a disposition to show them the extreme limits of the city, they journeyed on toward Fostoria. Information from the out townships is to the effect that these representatives of Joe Smith and Brigham Young have made several proselytes who will take their families and remove to Salt Lake City in the spring.

An Engine Plunges into a Washout.
LEAVENWORTH, Kas., Feb. 22.—The heavy rains of Saturday washed out a sunnill bridge on the Kansas Central railway Sunday morning, and before it was discovered the engine of a freight train plunged into the washout, carrying down the engineer and fireman, both of whom were badly scalded, the former receiving such injuries that he will die. All trains were delayed. It is impossible to repair the break until the water subsides.

The Gould-Sage Case Postponed.
NEW YORK, Feb. 22.—In consequence of the death of the wife of Foreman Haven, of the grand jury, the Gould-Sage case was not brought before the grand jury yesterday. It has been set down for Thursday.

Ohio Republican State Convention.
COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 22.—The Republican state convention will meet at Dayton, April 18 and 19.

READING MINERS.

They May Strike a Second Time, as All Are Not Given Work.

POTTSVILLE, Pa., Feb. 22.—Reports from all parts of the Schuylkill region indicate that there are fewer men working at the mines to-day than yesterday in consequence of new troubles arising, because of the Reading company's peremptory refusal to take back all the old men, as was understood by the Corbin-Lewis settlement.

A second miners' strike may occur unless all the men are given work.

The congressional investigating committee went to Shemantico this morning to investigate at once into this new trouble, and to see if their mediation can prevent serious consequences.

Canada's Labor Commission.

OTTAWA, Feb. 22.—The labor commission appointed by the Dominion government has nearly concluded its investigations of the relations between labor and capital. All the principal towns and cities in Canada were visited. The reports will be laid before parliament shortly, and startling disclosures regarding the treatment of employees will be made. The government, it is understood, is convinced of the representations made by the Knights of Labor some time ago, and will introduce legislation especially dealing with labor.

Stonecutters Gain Their Point.

JOLIET, Ill., Feb. 22.—The striking stonecutters in the Joliet Stone company's quarries have gone back to work. The company yields to the demands of the men for thirty-five cents per hour. The settlement was effected through a committee of seven representative stonecutters, who showed that they were receiving far less than current prices in Chicago, St. Louis, Minneapolis and other large cities.

Sounds From the Coal Mines.

ASHLAND, Pa., Feb. 22.—The same colliery that worked yesterday are in operation to-day. No employee have been discharged or suspended in this district, and the miners feel satisfied, but say that if ordered out again they will obey the order.

Knights of Pythias Swindled.

MANSFIELD, O., Feb. 22.—Madison Lodge, Knights of Pythias, located here, has been imposed upon by Charles Fox, a cheap Dutch comedian, who came here to tickle the risibilities of the audience that nightly gathers at a low variety theater. Fox represented himself to be a member of the Knights of Pythias, and when he was taken sick two weeks ago the local lodge provided nurse for him. Fox stated he was a member of Lincoln Lodge at Cincinnati, but in answer to a telegram the officers of that lodge said he was not one of them. Then Fox said he had been transferred to Damon Lodge. Word received from that lodge to-day is to the effect that no such a man has a membership with Damon. After Fox got well he arranged a benefit entertainment for Wednesday evening, and the Knights of Pythias brethren assisted in the sale of tickets. Fox himself sold about two hundred tickets and on Saturday night skipped out, while the officers are looking for him for getting $3 from L. Frederick, of Perryville. Fox took a trunk he did not pay for and a valise which he borrowed, along with him. No one knows where he is now. He left the town owing $75 or more.

Six-Day Bicycle Contest.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 22.—Nine men started in a six day, twelve hours per day, bicycle race at the Elite rink Monday forenoon.

The starters were Frank F. Dingley, of Minneapolis; S. G. Whittaker, of Chicago; W. F. Knapp, of Denver; R. A. Neilson, of Boston; S. P. Hollingsworth, of Indiana; H. G. Crocker, of Newton; W. A. Rhodes, of Boston; E. McDowell, of Philadelphia, and C. W. Ashliger, of Ohio.

A Barkeeper and His Beer Mallet.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 22.—Thomas Dunn and Dan Donahue quarreled in a saloon. The barkeeper, Andy Ratabitie, seized a beer mallet and made for both men. When the melee was over it was found that Dunn had sustained a compound fracture of the skull from the mallet and will die. Donahue was badly bruised about the head. Ratabitie was locked up.

Scorched Pianos.

NEW YORK, Feb. 22.—Flames were discovered shortly after midnight in Krakauer Brothers' piano factory, at Forty-fifth street and First avenue.

The firemen were quickly at the scene but their efforts to subdue the flames were unavailing. The building was completely gutted within an hour entailing a loss of about $50,000; insurance unknown.

Killed With Dynamite.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Feb. 22.—Thomas Sheridan, a contractor engaged in the erection of approaches on the Pittsburg & Lake Erie railroad bridge across the river at Lowellville, nine miles east of here, was instantly killed by an explosion of dynamite.

Sheridan was engaged in thawing out dynamite for blasting purposes at a fire, when it exploded, mutilating his body in a terrible manner, tearing off both legs and arms, and leaving only the trunk. Sheridan was forty years old, and leaves a family at Struthers, this county.

Big Iron Failure.

PITTSBURG, Feb. 22.—The great iron manufacturing firm of Graff, Bennett & Company has assigned to P. H. Miller, with $1,000,000 to $1,500,000 liabilities. Some years ago they failed for $1,200,000, but secured an extension, and have been able to clear $800,000 of the debt.

Killed by Machinery.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Feb. 22.—Silas Irick, an employee of the car works, was instantly killed by being thrown under a rapidly revolving wheel. The deceased was about forty years of age and leaves a wife and three children.

An Engine Plunges into a Washout.

LEAVENWORTH, Kas., Feb. 22.—The heavy rains of Saturday washed out a sunnill bridge on the Kansas Central railway Sunday morning, and before it was discovered the engine of a freight train plunged into the washout, carrying down the engineer and fireman, both of whom were badly scalded, the former receiving such injuries that he will die.

All trains were delayed. It is impossible to repair the break until the water subsides.

The Gould-Sage Case Postponed.

NEW YORK, Feb. 22.—In consequence of the death of the wife of Foreman Haven, of the grand jury, the Gould-Sage case was not brought before the grand jury yesterday. It has been set down for Thursday.

Ohio Republican State Convention.

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 22.—The Republican state convention will meet at Dayton, April 18 and 19.

Banquet to Pedestrian Albert.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Feb. 22.—James Albert Cathcart, the champion pedestrian, was tendered a banquet here last evening, at which the mayor presided. A feature of the affair was the absence of anything stronger than lemonade to drink. This was in deference to Albert's temperance habits.

The Cyclone Sufferers.

TENTS TO BE SENT TO MOUNT VERNON FOR THE SUFFERERS.

The Railroads' Kindness to the People of the Afflicted Village—The Loss Will Reach Over $1,000,000—Appeal for Aid.

The Number of Deaths Increasing.

MT. VERNON, Ill., Feb. 22.—Now that the excitement caused by the terrible tornado disaster is over, it has been definitely ascertained that nearly three hundred residences and places of business were destroyed or badly damaged, and that 1,200 people are made homeless. The killed so far number thirty-five. Eight or ten are fatally hurt and perhaps sixty wounded.

Adjutant General Vance and Dr. Ranch arrived here at 11 o'clock last night, and at once met the citizens' committee and arranged to have forwarded immediately a number of shelter tents for the use of the homeless until permanent quarters can be furnished for them. For the convenience of many without homes the Air Line and the Louisville & Nashville railway put specials on the railroad to carry such as chose to go to friends in neighboring towns during the night and return during the day.

There are many persons who believe that all the people have not been taken from the ruins and many point to Crews' block as a natural pile from which the remains of three or five unknown are yet to be taken.

The upper stories of this building were used as a boarding house, and it was much frequented by railroad men who stopped but for a day. A great effort was made in this building to release an old man named Murray, but he was pinned by the head and hands in such a manner that he could not be moved. His cries were piteous as the flames crept upon him and literally roasted him to death. His charred remains were taken from the cellar of the bank at 10 o'clock in the morning.

At midnight the streets were deserted save a few watchmen, who patrolled the streets and clamber over the debris, which has been only partially cleared from the walks or propped up by beams. A small force has been at work all day and order is now coming out of the chaos.

As soon as the injured had been released from the debris the citizens organized for relief. The city council appropriated $500 for immediate necessities. Citizens' committees were appointed.

A formal appeal for cash has been sent broadcast through the mails.

MT. VERNON was a pretty place of 4,000 inhabitants and the county seat of Jefferson county, in southern Illinois. It is situated on the Louisville & Nashville railroad, seventy-eight miles from St. Louis. Tornadoes have never before visited the region.

The property loss will aggregate $1,000,000.

Summing up, the county building, the churches, business houses and stocks of goods aggregate a loss of $410,000; fine residences totally destroyed, $38,000; fine residences injured, $10,000; cottages, warehouses, barns, etc., $115,000; total, $573,000. Other incidents will increase this.

It is said that none of the buildings were insured against storm, and that the loss is therefore total.

Again this morning the weary, solemn train of funeral processions is heard. All of the funerals are conducted in the most simple way; indeed it would be almost impossible to have any special ceremonies.

BAD FOR THE HUSBAND.

His Wife Charges Him With Theft, Counterfeiting and Murder.

WICHITA, Kan., Feb. 22.—Mrs. Ellen Warner, a prisoner in the county jail, has made an affidavit to the effect that her husband, William Warner, a house mover, of this city, was a murderer, counterfeiter and thief. She said:

"Ten years ago my husband and I lived in Des Moines, Iowa. He belonged to a gang of desperadoes who would stop at nothing to get money. One night Henry Scribner, a wealthy old man, was killed. My husband was out almost all night, and came in very much excited. When I asked the cause he swore me to secrecy, and then told me that Scribner had been murdered, and that Dan and Ben Smith and himself had done the deed and robbed the body. The Smiths were arrested, but they succeeded in getting off.

"My husband was also in a plot to murder a saloon-keeper named Applegate, but I heard their plans and warned him. Four years ago next month my husband helped to smuggle some tools into the jail at Des Moines, and assisted in the escape of sixteen desperadoes from there. He was also connected with a notorious counterfeiter, Bill Hardin, and many narrow escapes he and Hardin had from capture. My husband's brother Louis is also in Wichita, and one is as bad as the other. At Sebastopol, Iowa, Louis made a grand raid on property, and was captured, but escaped from the courtroom. He went to Trenton, Mo., where he was sent to jail six months for theft, but escaped through the aid of my husband. My husband has often threatened to kill me, and one night in August he had an open knife over me all night."

The officers at Des Moines have been communicating with, and say they remember the Scribner murder, and that the murderer escaped. It is not yet known what will be done in the case.

Big Fire in New York.

NEW YORK, Feb. 22.—The six-story buildings Nos. 530 to 551 West Twenty-third street, occupied by the Cylindrograph Manufacturing company, manufacturers of passementeries, ruchings, lacings, etc.; the Loyal Manufacturing company, makers of spring beds, and other firms, were burned last night. The loss is roughly estimated at $200,000; insurance not learned.

Banquet to Pedestrian Albert.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Feb. 22.—James Albert Cathcart, the champion pedestrian, was tendered a banquet here last evening, at which the mayor presided. A feature of the affair was the absence of anything stronger than lemonade to drink. This was in deference to Albert's temperance habits.

The Suthern Base Ball League.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Feb. 22.—The Southern Base Ball league met here Monday.

Atlanta withdrew and Chattanooga was therefore consist only of New Orleans, Memphis, Charleston and Birmingham.

DAILY EVENING BULLETIN.

DAILY, EXCEPT SUNDAY.

ROSSER & McCARTHY,
Proprietors.

RATES OF SUBSCRIPTION.

THE DAILY BULLETIN will be delivered to any part of the city at 6 cents a week, or one year for $3.

THE DAILY BULLETIN to any postoffice in the United States, postage prepaid, at twenty-five cents per month or three dollars per year.

WEDNESDAY EVEN'G, FEB. 22, 1888.

The cyclone is on its annual tour of the country.

Mr. HUNTINGTON should put a track-laying machine at work on the new railroad, that is provided he wants to complete the road very soon.

The Republicans of Jessamine County have nominated Jerome Sparks, of the Jones-Sparks contest notoriety, for Sheriff in opposition to G. B. Mosley, the Democratic nominee.

DURING 1886 the United States produced the immense sum of $465,000,000, the largest mineral production recorded in any country. The largest total for any previous year was $429,000,000 in 1885.

BOONE LOGAN thinks the Legislature will abolish Rowan County. At any rate, he has concluded that Morehead will hereafter be a little too "unhealthy" for him. He will sell out and remove to some other point.

THE National Executive Committee of the Democratic party in session at Washington to-day is expected to fix the time and place of nominating the next President. New York, Cincinnati, Chicago, St. Louis and San Francisco are fighting for the convention.

ALL is not lovely in the Republican camp. Not long ago, an ardent Blaine organ sneeringly alluded to the fact that Senator Sherman became a millionaire on a salary of $5,000 a year. The Sherman organs hit back and hit hard, too. They remind the Blaines that the Plumed Knight has been in public life a shorter time than Sherman, on a salary of $5,000 a year too, and yet he is as rich a man as the Ohio Senator.

THE Republicans would no doubt be very glad to drop the rebel flag business if they could. Congressman Boutelle, of Maine, wanted the matter looked into, and the matter has been thoroughly investigated. The report of the committee has been filed. It will show that all the Confederate flags that have been returned have been sent back by Republican Secretaries of War, and that not one has been returned under the present Administration of the Department. "Little Breeches" Foraker of Ohio should make a note of this and turn his abuse against his own party.

WHEN the Legislators were being wined and dined at Lexington week before last, Senator Leavy, of Verona, remarked to Mr. Safford, a member of the Munday jury: "I hope they will keep you here until you hang that old woman," meaning Mrs. Lucretia Mundy, who was on trial for the murder of her husband. For this Judge Morton issued a rule against the Senator for him to show cause why he should not be punished. To this the Senator filed a petition that the remark was only made in jest, and that he did not intend thereby to influence or prejudice the case. Judge Morton has, however, concluded that the Senator should pay for his fun, and assessed him $30.

CRIPPLED CHILDREN.

LITTLE ONES WITH MERRY HEARTS AND WITHERED LIMBS.

Sunshine and Shadow, Mirth and Pathos
In a Hospital for Unfortunate Children.
How They Forget Pain in Play—Scenes
In the Wards.

Only a crippled newsboy, swinging himself along with the aid of a crutch. Ah! It's hard lines for such a lad! But there is a place in this city where there are scores of such children even more helpless than he. It is the Crippled Children's hospital on Forty-second street.

They look bright and happy enough at first glance, as you see them at play in the big hall at the top of the building, with its four great wide windowed towers. Happy enough! As they swing high in the air in high backed chairs suspended from strong ropes or play hide and seek around the pillars, in the depths of the big windows and behind the screens. And they are very happy and bright when, for awhile, they forget their pain and quivering nerves, and shout with laughter quite as gleeful as if many of the little heads and crooked backs were not bound up in hideous iron frames. And they trudge around the room after a runaway ball with as much zest as though the halting, tedious step and clanking braces did not hold them back at every turn.

Hark! What a rumble! Look down to the end of the hall. There is a great chattering going on, and out from the crowd fly half a dozen tricycles abreast, each manned by a girl of ten or thereabouts. With swiftly working feet and hands and shining eyes they roll down the long hall side by side. Evidently they are running a race. At the further end they wheel round and roll back again more slowly, guiding with dexterity their wheels through the score or more of advancing riders who had fallen in their wake.

PAIN AFTER PLEASURE.

All is not play, however, much as they enjoy it, and pretty soon some pale faced girl draws out to the side, and unfastening the straps that hold her foot in the step, she raises it on her knee and chafes it with her hands, while she moans with pain.

Every afternoon the children come up here, and the paralyzed and lame remove one or both shoes and go through these exercises to strengthen their diseased limbs. It is all done under the eye of a skillful professor, who toils over exercise to the condition of the little one. Sometimes when he fastens the straps of the tricycle the child utters a quick cry, and oftentimes must be lifted off the machine, being too tender to endure the exercise for that day.

There are the bars for pannolies at one end, where the child seats herself and with her hands on the opposite bar works herself with a swinging motion back and forth. This is to try to bring life back into the withered muscles, and after weeks of practice it sometimes succeeds.

After play hour comes the hard part of the day, when the little ones gather in their wards, each in his or her own little chair, and wait for the surgeon to come and bandage them. Four o'clock is their dark hour, and it is with fearful faces and many a sigh that they wait the coming of the house doctor.

The nurses go from one to the other, loosening braces and straps and unwrapping bandages, and then with a quick step and business-like air, albeit with a kindly touch in his skillful fingers, the surgeon comes in and begins his work. And then there are pallid cheeks and lips, clenched fingers and brave struggles to hold back the cries that seem as if they would come out, and there are tears and moans from the little ones, whose baby hearts cannot understand the suffering they have come into.

WAITING FOR BREAD AND MILK.

After an hour or so he finishes, the last bandage is fastened, the last brace firmly set in place and the last strap buckled down, and then the children move about a little while, putting away the doctor's instruments, picking up the scraps he has left and getting the room ready for their evening meal. They take their chairs again and, placing them in a row, one directly behind the other, sit down to wait until the waitress brings in their bowls of milk and heaping trays of bread.

The ward is divided into two sections, with a double row of tables in each. The children are stretched out in two rows in the rear of the tables. At the top of the nurse's bell, the first row rises and proceeds in an orderly manner up the side of the table till each child is opposite her place. They go pushing their chairs in front of them, for but few of the little ones could walk without this support.

When these were all in places the nurse tapped the bell again as a signal to those in the other section. There was a rush of wheels and a shrill, scraping sound. And then the bell tapped again, and instantly each tiny hand was folded and each head bowed, and in low, reverent voices these words sounded through the room:

"Our heavenly Father, we thank thee for giving to us this food, and we humbly ask thee to bless our strength to thy service. Amen."

And then there was a rattling of spoons, and each child fell to eating with as much enjoyment as though there were no such things as disease and braces and surgeons in the world. When the meal was over and the dishes removed the tables pushed back out of the way, and the girls brought out the bandage boxes and proceeded to roll bandages for the next twenty minutes, till every one was ready and packed away for the next day's dressing.

At 7 o'clock the little ones went to bed. There was much bothering over inconvenient back buttons on aprons and dresses, a sudden gleam of baby arms, so thin and wasted, unlacing of shoes and adjusting of braces and straps by the nurses, and then cool white night dresses obscured the bright heads for a moment ere they were buttoned into their places.

Ah! these children have grown old in suffering, till out of the little features the light of carefree childhood seems to have faded, and even their gayety seems pitiful.—New York Herald.

The Czar's Face.

The face of the czar is neither hard nor mean, yet there is a firmness always visible behind the handsomeness and the indifference which would be called a line of cruelty by his enemies, but an honest determination to rule or die by those who know him best. I like his face, and, in spite of my republican principles, admire the man.—Cor. Magazin Cor. Courier-Journal.

Personal.

Mrs. C. S. Leach left this morning to visit her sister, at Lexington.

Miss Pauline Epstein and Miss Steinan, of Cincinnati, are visiting Miss Katie Simon.

Miss Amanda B. Champlin has gone to Covington on a visit to her mother, Mrs. M. C. Wilson.

Mr. and Mrs. John McElroy, of Lebanon, Ky., are visiting their daughter, Mrs. A. M. J. Cochran.

Mr. J. M. Pemberton, who has been here for several weeks on a visit to his old friends, leaves this afternoon for San Francisco, Cal.

St. PATRICK'S Benevolent Society will celebrate St. Patrick's Day—17th of March—with a public parade, in which the Father Mathew's Total Abstinence Society and the Ancient Order of Hibernians will take part. Members of these orders of neighboring towns and cities will be invited.

REV. FATHER KELP will preach the first of a series of Lenten sermons to-night at St. Patrick's Church. His Lenten sermons last year were not only eloquent and instructive, but very impressive. All are cordially invited to attend.

MR. J. LEWIS PATTON, who has been engaged in the office of the Maysville and Big Sandy Railroad here for several months, left last night for Omaha, Neb., where he has secured a situation as traveling salesman for Proctor & Gamble, the large soap manufacturers.

MR. GEORGE TAYLOR, of Washington, has an exhibition at the BULLETIN office some potatoes that surpass in size anything of the kind even seen in this city. They are the Brigham Young variety, and were grown in Kansas.

City Items.

Foerster's crackers are the best. Ask your grocer for them, and take no other.

The latest styles of wall paper and ceiling decorations, at J. C. Pecor & Co.'s drug and book store.

We invite the ladies to an early inspection of our white goods and embroideries—the largest and finest in the city. —D. Hunt & Son.

Dress Making.

Misses Amelia B. Wood and Mattie Davis' rooms are on West Court street, second floor, above H. C. Hubbard's. Patronage solicited, work done promptly.

Soldiers' Orphan's School Burned.

KITTANNING, Pa., Feb. 22.—The Soldiers' Orphan's School building at Dayton, Armstrong county, Pennsylvania, was destroyed by fire at midnight last night. The fire originated in the boy's department but the cause is not known. The pupils escaped without injury to themselves but lost all their clothing. Some of them jumped from the windows just as the roof fell in. They were all sent home on furloughs to-day. Loss on building and contents $10,000; insurance $5,000.

Murderer Brown Pardoned.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 22.—Dan. Brown, who was convicted of manslaughter and sentenced a few days ago by Judge Baker to six months' imprisonment in the penitentiary at hard labor for the killing of Adolph Zen- neck, of the Mascot, for the publication in that paper of an article concerning his alleged intimacy with a lady in Algiers, was pardoned yesterday by Governor McEnery.

An Overflowed River.

HAGERSTOWN, Md., Feb. 22.—It has been raining since 8 o'clock yesterday morning, and a freshet has been caused thereby, which, together with the melting snow has swollen the Potomac river to immense proportions. The eastern portion of this town is four feet under water caused by the overflow.

Killed Under a Wagon.

CARLISLE, Ky., Feb. 22.—Tommie, the ten-year-old son of John T. Sims, near this city, fell off a wagon while driving, and two wheels ran over his breast, crushing his heart from one side to the other. He lived ten hours in an unconscious condition.

A Saw Mill Boiler Leaks.

MICHIGAN, Feb. 22.—The boiler in the saw mill of Levi Newell, four miles east of here, exploded this morning, killing the lame, William Smith, and terribly injuring Levi Newell.

Nothing of Importance.

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 22.—Neither senate nor house did anything of importance this morning. A lot of gass well bills and other local bills were rushed through, and that's about all.

The Tatty Sheeters.

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 22.—Frederick Steube, ex-policeman, and Doc Montgomery, the defendant, were on the witness stand in the tally sheet trial this morning. They threw but little light on the transactions of the eventful night when the frauds were committed.

At 7 o'clock the little ones went to bed. There was much bothering over inconvenient back buttons on aprons and dresses, a sudden gleam of baby arms, so thin and wasted, unlacing of shoes and adjusting of braces and straps by the nurses, and then cool white night dresses obscured the bright heads for a moment ere they were buttoned into their places.

Fatal Boiler Explosion.

CRAWFORDSVILLE, Ind., Feb. 22.—In the western part of this county a boiler exploded, tearing down a saw mill belonging to Michael Fruits. His son, James, who was firing, was crushed so that he died in a few hours. He leaves a wife and four children.

George H. Corliss Dead.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Feb. 22.—George H. Corliss, the eminent mechanical engineer and manufacturer, died at 12:35 this afternoon of paralysis of the heart, superinduced by gaseous fever. His death was quite sudden. He was in his seventy-second year.

TOBACCO MARKET.

Furnished by Glover & Durrett, proprietors Louisville Tobacco Warehouse.

Sales on our market for the week just closed amounted to 1,615 lbs., with receipts of 993 lbs. for the same period.

The depression which was reported last week has continued throughout the week, but without, however, any additional decline. The offerings of old burley have been remarkably small during the week, holding of which being willing to accept the details. No real reason can be given why there should be any shrinkage in sales at this time, and the decline is looked upon as only temporary.

The following quotations fairly represent our market for old burley tobacco:

IN MEMORY OF JOHN HEISER.

Resolutions Adopted by Joseph Heiser Post No. 13, G. A. R. at a Recent Meeting.

At a recent meeting of Joseph Heiser Post No. 13, G. A. R., Messrs. M. C. Hutchins, Wm. B. Dawson, and Wm. A. Stockdale were appointed a committee to prepare appropriate resolutions on the death of their late comrade John Heiser. They reported the following:

WHEREAS, it has been ordered by the Great Commander of the universe that our beloved comrade John Heiser be summoned from life's battlefield to promotion in the celestial army on high;

Be it Resolved, That in the death of our comrade this Post has lost one of its most valiant and valuable members, one who had become endeared to us by his many acts of usefulness, charity and fraternal conduct, to whom we were especially attached by the nobility of his character and the wisdom of his counsel.

That in his death this community has lost one of its most upright and public spirited citizens who had by the integrity of his conduct and the honorable ambition of his nature won his way from humble beginnings to a deservedly prominent place in the estimation of our people.

That we express our profound sympathy for his bereaved family, who by his death have lost a loving and affectionate husband and father.

That these resolutions be spread upon the records of this Post, and a copy furnished the family of comrade Heiser.

The report was unanimously adopted and was ordered published in the Maysville daily papers. T. M. Luman, Adjutant.

Serious Accident at Cotton Mills. A serious accident occurred at the Maysville Cotton Mills about 9 o'clock yesterday morning. The strap connecting the shaft with the pitman of the engine broke at the wrist, and the next instant the engine "ran through itself," tearing out the cylinder-head and damaging other parts of the machinery. Mr. Byron Rudy, engineer, and Mr. Frank Bromley, machinist, made a very narrow escape, as they had stepped from in front of the cylinder-head just before the accident occurred. When the crash came they retained their presence of mind and soon had all steam shut off.

The damage to the engine will amount to a few hundred dollars. The accident will cause a stoppage of the factory for several days, and throws the employees out of work.

Who is Mr. Williams? The Washington City correspondent of the Courier-Journal says in last Sunday's issue of that paper: "Mr. Henry Williams, of Maysville, is here en route for New York, where he expects to soon become a Benedict. Mr. Williams has been engaged for several months, although few of his friends are aware of the fact. His fiancee is Miss Sophie Brown, of New York, the youngest child of Mr. J. P. Brown, a wealthy stock broker. The marriage will take place next week and after a honeymoon spent in traveling, the young couple will go to Maysville to reside."

Not long since George Schilliz, the well-known carenter, caught a pine wood worm in the river. On finding it, he found it to be a very peculiar kind. He sawed off a small piece and left it at the drug store to get the various opinions of the people as to the kind of wood it was. By reading the following you will see that a beginner guesser would have no show with such a crowd. Judge Cassellit was elder; Sam Perry, maple; Bob Helms chestnut; M. S. Wilson, evergreen; Gwynne Moore, cotton wood; Geo. Schilliz, tulip; Capt. Dietrich, iron wood; William Husted, cedar; William Shilliz, pine; W. W. Clark, sassafras; Wm. J. A. Prentiss, paw-paw; Col. Kennedy, cucumber; Sam Hudson, swamp maple; W. R. Ellis, timmons; S. P. Campbell, gua sang; Colonel Simons, persimmon root.

The supper next Saturday week to raise funds for the examination exercises at the close of school should be well patronized, considering the excellent condition of the schools and the earnest labor the teachers have all performed. Every good citizen should add their mite toward success. The examination exercises will be free to all, and those who may be unable to make necessary preparations, show your good will by patronizing the supper. You get no receipt, but the money will go to the right place.

HOPE ALMOST ABANDONED.

PREPARING FOR THE WORST, WHICH IS EVIDENTLY EXPECTED.

The Crown Princess Regards Bismarck's Designs With Distrust—Prince William Opposes His Mother's Views—The First Diplomatic Step of Russia.

LONDON, Feb. 22.—It is evident as the hours go on and the moments which may prove to be the last ones for Prince Frederick William approach, that hope of the recovery of Germany's crown prince is almost abandoned at Berlin in official quarters.

The readiness of the aged kaiser to undertake the fatiguing journey to San Remo, the now general distrust of the bulletins in regard to the royal patient's health, the appointment of a reporting counselor to Prince William, a distinction only accorded to a crown prince and the conference which will be held to-day between the emperor, Prince William and Bismarck, all point to the conclusion that the worst is being prepared for and evidently expected.

The conference to-day will undoubtedly turn upon the regency question. The regency proposition is bitterly opposed by the crown princess, who is no friend to Bismarck, and looks upon him and his designs with distrust. Arrayed against the ambitious princess is her son, Prince William, and his equally ambitious wife and Bismarck.

This trio, with the assistance of some of the ministers, are endeavoring to urge upon the sick prince the necessity of resigning his claim to the throne, and allowing his son to replace him. To-day's conference will undoubtedly produce new and interesting results, but meanwhile Bismarck is leaving nothing undone to secure the throne for his favorite in the event of the kaiser's death.

It would seem as if the alarming reports which come from San Remo would put a stop to the designs of Bismarck, but those who know the Iron Chancellor best credit him with little sentiment, and believe that he will seize upon every opportunity to carry to successful completion the plans he has once begun.

Russia's First Diplomatic Step.

BERLIN, Feb. 22.—Count Schouvaloff, Russian ambassador, in an interview with Count Herbert Bismarck, suggested that the powers unite in advising the porte, as sultan of Bulgaria, to declare Prince Ferdinand's exercise of power illegal.

It is reported that Bismarck has advised Count Kalnoky to assent to the suggestion. Russia pledges that the declaration shall be accomplished by an coercive measure. Count Kalnoky left Vienna for Pesth last night to consult with the emperor. Nothing practical is expected from the negotiations.

That is, nothing is expected that will tend to lay the Bulgarian war specter. It is simply the wedge with which Russia opens the negotiations. If it is true, as stated, that Bismarck has advised Count Kalnoky to give Austria's consent, it is done to facilitate negotiations, since a refusal might bring on a conflict on a side issue. None of the powers care whether Ferdinand was elected prince of Bulgaria legally or illegally. If the powers assent to the czar's preliminary demand, then the scion of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha must step down and out, and Russia will demand her status quo at the close of the Turko-Russian war, to-wit: The right to organize a government and manage the election of a sovereign in Bulgaria before another prince is chosen.

If the powers refuse to disturb existing conditions, then Russia will rush an army into Bulgaria and the war will have begun.

Bismarck is probably willing to open up the question in order to avoid immediate war. If, however, he did not have in view some concessions to the czar, he would not do it. In all prior diplomacy he has shown such a disposition.

Troops Near Bulgaria.

LONDON, Feb. 22.—Advices have been received that thirty-six trains conveying troops have left Odessa and proceeded in the direction of Kischeneff.

The latter place is in Bessarabia, about one hundred and twenty-five miles north of the Danube. They would be within striking distance of Bulgaria.

Wine Production of France.

PARIS, Feb. 22.—In the senate yesterday, M. Medillan referred to the reports of a decrease in the production of wine in France, and asked if the reports were true. M. Viatte, minister of agriculture, replied that the production of wine was increasing annually, reaching 30,000,000 hectolitres in 1897.

Foreign Notes.

The debate on the address continues in the British commons. The depression in agriculture is now being considered.

They are having bad weather and high water at Nice. Carriage traffic is stopped on the promenade, and the villagers are trying to keep the salt water out of their gardens.

Romania has notified the porte that Austria has given assurance that Russian violation of Romanian territory will be considered a movement against Austria and form a casus belli.

Explosion in a Mine.

OURAY, Colo., Feb. 22.—Monday morning, as Buck Johnson and Arthur Holland, working in the Caribou mine at Mount Sopris, had sprung a hole and charged it with four sticks of giant powder the powder exploded, blowing Johnson's body sixty feet through the tunnel to the dump, and seriously wounding Holland, who staggered and fell upon the dead body of his partner. The roof of the tunnel presented a sickening sight, hair and blood being plastered along its entire length. Holland is now lying at the hospital in a precarious condition. Johnson has a father living at Nahant, Mass.

Shot Through the Heart.

PARKERSBURG, W. Va., Feb. 22.—Jermiah Hensley, a well known young farmer of Wayne, left his home with his rifle with the ostensible purpose of taking a hunt. He did not return that evening and the family became uneasy and instituted a search, which resulted in the finding of the body in the woods, shot through the heart. Whether it was accidental or a suicide will perhaps always remain a conjecture.

Horsewhipped.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Feb. 22.—Charles C. Gribbin, who is known as a turf writer under the nom de plume of "Con Cregan," was publicly horsewhipped on Main street last night by Miss Mary Dineen, a young lady whom he had been following. She got the whip from the driver of a street car. Gribbin is twenty-eight and married.

Squire John Cone, James Copeland and J. E. Malloy, prominent residents of Ashley county, Arkansas, were lodged in the penitentiary to save them from mob violence. They waylaid and killed a sewing machine agent, S. J. Rehols, mistaking him for William Duckworth.

Dam Washed Out.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Feb. 22.—The dam of the Wright company, at Chicopee, was carried away about 8 o'clock this morning by the giving away of an ice jam caused by the great volume of water in the Chicopee river resulting from the thaw. The mills that will be stopped have a capacity of 60,000 spindles and employ 600 hands. The water is very high and the full extent of the damages is not yet ascertainable. The dam had been built several years.

State by a Boarder.

KOKOMO, Ind., Feb. 22.—Charles Rusk, aged seventeen, shot and instantly killed Wesley Adams, aged thirty-five, in the latter's home, near this city, while at the breakfast table. A quarrel over Adams' wife was the cause. Rusk is a tough character, and had been boarding with Adams. The victim leaves a young wife and five small children.

The stock market opened dull and heavy, and on some selling by the room train prices declined 1/2 to 1/4 per cent. below last night's figures in the first 15 minutes. This was followed by a good buying, principally of the grangery and Richmond & Terminal. The latter was freely bought on a report that Mr. Sully's resignation had been tendered as the president of the road and would be accepted at the next meeting of the board of directors. The buying resulted in an advance of 1/2 to 1/4 per cent., the latter in West Point. The market at the present writing is steady.
